Performance goal and investment strategy

Through its attractive investment strategy combining several types of assets, the UNIVERSUM fund attempts to surpass the yields of Czech government bonds in the long-term. The fund is a comprehensive investment portfolio. It is not limited only to basic types of investments (classes of assets), but through the flexible investment strategy exploits the potential of the yield and alternative investments and real estate component. It can flexibly respond to the market trend and adjust the ratio of the portfolio's conservative and dynamic component to benefit the possible yield. Therefore it very effectively optimises the ratio between the yield potential and fluctuation of the fund's value. The conservative part of the portfolio adds stability to the fund and consists of conservative bonds and instruments of the money market. Their share may, in periods of market fluctuations, form most of the portfolio, i.e. a maximum of 90% and a minimum of 50%. The share of the dynamic component is therefore significantly reduced. The portfolio's dynamic component consists above all of shares which have a minimum representation of 10% in the portfolio. These are supplemented by real estate and alternative investment instruments. In a period of growth of dynamic assets the fund's flexible investment strategy enables an increase of the share of this component. The share of the dynamic assets can form up to 50% of the portfolio.
